

All Life Wants To Create More Life And Maintain Better Lives

What is it that all life wants to do? They want to create more life, and maintain a better life for themselves. For example, if you were to take a seed and drop it on the ground it would naturally find a way to grow. That is why you see things such as pieces of grass coming up through an asphalt driveway. The grass does not think that it is unable to achieve growing simply because it is in bad soil. What it does, rather, is to push its way up through the bad situation to achieve something better. What does the seed do at that point? It gravitates towards the light and takes the best position possible and then it creates more seeds that will grow as well. This is the simple law of nature, that something will take whatever situation it is in and make the best of it. Not only that, but it will achieve greatness in that it grows to the full and then accomplishes its final purpose. The same should be true for any of us. What we really want in life is to be able to achieve everything possible. It is not going to happen if we have the mindset that we are not going to ever get anywhere in life. If we find that we are planted in difficult soil then we must find a way to grow in that soil until we are able to achieve our goal. It is impossible to ever live life to the full without having wealth. If you are going to expand your mind and your body to the fullest extent then you must have the means to be able to experience life in any way that you want. That is why even though you may be planted in soil that is not perfect you simply must find a way to grow. You must recognize that there is an end goal and then you must reach out for that goal with everything that you have. So don't give into the thought that you will never achieve something simply because you are planted in soil that is not right. Fight your way through to the surface and grow to your fullest extent. Have it in your mind that you will achieve your goal and that goal can be yours.

About the Author

Dan Klatt, the "Think and Grow Rich Guy", just released "The Carnegie Secret" giving you the key to literally Think and Grow Rich, modeling the guy who made Bill Gates' fortune seem like milk money. (Also get 100% commissions, and valuable bonuses, at <http://www.TheCarnegieSecret.com>)

Source: <http://americanahost.com>