

Power Of Faith And Unborn Baby

Are you looking for some information on faith and unborn baby? Here's my personal experience on power of faith and unborn baby. The next section may contain the wisdom that changes everything. According to From Wikipedia, the free encyclopaedia, faith is based upon the interpretation of the intangible (feelings and emotions, etc.) instead of the physically tangible and is primarily associated with religion in modern times. According to the Bible, "faith is being sure of what we hope for and certain of what we do not see. My pregnancies were full of complication. With faith, it helps me to put through during my pregnancies. I have strong belief and trust in my unborn baby, myself and God that helps me to face and cope with the ups and downs in my pregnancies. While I was pregnant with my second child, I faced challenges as I was experiencing the possibility of losing the child. The doctor had told me that I had a low placenta and I even suffered gestational diabetes. This was when I began to attend the prenatal training course which used the Right Brain Training approach conducted by my teacher, May Ng. She not only guided me with her knowledge and skills, but constantly supported and reassured me with her heart. Under her supervision, I was successful in applying my prenatal training skills to communicate with my second son. I had to admit there were trying moments when I thought I might lose him. But the training I received helped me in facing, and in the end, overcoming all the challenges from a positive approach. Before I was expecting my third child, I had a strong wish to conceive this baby because I have always loved children. Somehow, I knew that I was going to have a baby before conception. In addition, I also had the need in me to write a book on prenatal training that I felt was something I would leave behind for our next generation on the secret of connecting with the unborn child. I sent out my intent and prayed to God to fulfill this great wish. I believe that whatever I can perceive, I can conceive and I am now a living prove that I can achieve it. It was this strong unwavering determination to have a baby that has led to my conception of this miracle child. I thank you God for the wonderful gift of life and I have faith in God. I hope that you have earned a wealth of knowledge, just from taking some time to experience the power of faith with your unborn baby. I wish that you would put the knowledge into practice and share your experience with others. Disclaimers: The author shares this article based on her personal and work experience and disclaims any responsibility for any liability, losses or damages and /or application of any of contents of this article.

About the Author

Ms Mak Wai Chong, a mother of 3 children, is a freelance trainer and counsellor. She has worked as social worker and counsellor for 17 years. Visit her website at <http://www.WiseParents.net> for prenatal training and parenting information and FREE newsletters.

Source: <http://americanahost.com>