

How to Get Free Audio Book Downloads and Samples

Welcome to the world of sound. Are you a good listener? Did you have a hard time learning by holding your attention focus to your school teachers years ago? Did your mind literally fly out the classroom window when you tried to be a good student and listen to your teachers years ago? Almost all of you will find that you have grown out of the concentration problem as you got older. We settle down as we mature and can hold our concentration better. Unfortunately many people never learned to read at all. This is sad because they can never know the joy of reading and enjoying a good book. With the introduction of audio books now they can. One of the great innovations flying out of developments on the internet is the audio e-book and free downloads and samples that come before it. The non reader can now enjoy the recent popular fiction book and adventure story that happens to be true. An audio book is a printed book that is read to you. Just like mom, dad or big brother or sister did when we were very young. One of the great discoveries of our time has literally been with us all along. Educators can teach us when we can pick our best learning times. The blind do not have to use Braille methods to read books, anymore, to enjoy travel adventures. So, non readers and the blind both can learn to speak languages foreign to them via audio book training modules. These amazing audible books appeal to the deeper consciousness within us. Our minds make pictures in a very different way when we are read to by professional speakers, famous people and original authors. Books from languages we do not understand can be translated into our native languages for us to now enjoy in story book spoken form by a reader. We can learn almost any task, at least in part, by using audible books. We can get a free book summary online from thousands of audible stories and training programs that have been put into spoken form to get a better idea of what they are all about with no charge. This way we can decide if we want to get the whole book back by downloading it. You can get an abridged book that takes out many parts of the whole story book and just includes critical parts so you can get a lot of the meaning of it. Words will sometimes be changed to give you the meaning and gist of the book. You can also get an unabridged book that gives you the complete spoken story, fact or fiction, of the book. For example; The Green Mile unabridged book by Stephen King that you can download, with a purchase, is thirteen hours long. This includes the whole book. Writers and publishers will accept the lower priced audio story book version of their stories to make more money from higher volume sales of their works of art and education being sold. So this audible version will save you some money. The online web sites will sell you the stories for less than the printed hard or paper cover versions. The downloads from the website can be burned onto your cd. Of course, you are not allowed to sell them to others or buy them and burn cds to give to others. This is not fair to the writers or website. You are allowed to download and use them on cds, dvds, cassette tapes and other recording devices for yourself. Cds, mp3s, dvds, ipods and cassette tapes are light and easy for you to transport anywhere. Ipods have very large capacities with new innovations so you can get a lot of product into a small spot for convenience and access. The quality of the reading sound will deteriorate very little versus old style records, tapes and other recording devices. The way you access your audio products is usually by download. This is an easy process to learn. This is taught on the web sites that sell the books. Some websites even have videos you can access on the website to learn how to do the downloads. They are short and easy to understand. You can email the party you buy them from with any questions about this process but this is seldom necessary. One of the amazing parts of the downloadable internet audible book is you can download them from the website whether you live in Paris, New York, Miami, Sydney or Canton. You can now do this easily from virtually anywhere in the world. You do not have to travel to get your audio storybook. You can get your audio e-book and free downloads and samples anytime of the night or day because they are automated on the internet. They are accessible any day or holiday of the year. They are entertaining and they can teach you many different lessons on an oral format that does not stress your fingers, elbows, back, eyes or arms as much as printed books do. This is a new concept in learning and enjoying books that will enhance the joy of your life.
