

Great Ideas for Your Wedding Favor

The giving of wedding favors to the guests of the wedding ceremony by the bride and groom has been a very old tradition. This old tradition was started by the Europeans when sugar cubes was the most popular wedding favor at that time. These sugar cubes were given in porcelain and crystal boxes. Sometimes, the wedding favor was also gifted in boxes made of precious stones. However with the fast moving world the gifts changed into sugared almonds as the cost of sugar went down and was not regarded as a gift anymore. A wedding favor is one of the best ways to express yourself at your own wedding. A good wedding favor makes your wedding an unforgettable moment for the people who attend your wedding. Therefore, the uniqueness of the wedding favor makes a lot of difference. So, the best way a wedding favor should be presented is the customized way. One of the best customized wedding gifts can be presented by engraving the bride and grooms name on the gift with the date of the wedding. The only task in this is to choose the decoration or the design in which you are going to do the engraving. You can choose from silver or chrome colors. Or you can use silk cloth for decorating the wedding gift. Another good way of expressing yourself through the wedding favors is by monograms. You can also choose a great deal of unique wedding favors from magazines and from asking different people who has done it. Being unique is a specialty in itself. The smallest of gifts can make the biggest of impression on your guests. Coffee mugs are a great wedding favor if you imprint the bride and grooms photo on the mug. You can also decorate the coffee mugs you gift by putting fresh coffee beans in the mug. If you are great music lovers and expect your guests to be one too, then you can gift them with audio CD's with your favorite wedding songs. You can also add your picture on the CD box for making the gift a bit more special than it was without it. You can experiment with different themes for your wedding like a Halloween theme or a Valentines Day. Anyhow, you should make it a point that the wedding favor matches with the theme. Uniqueness is the essence of a wedding favor and one always should maintain it.
